The meaning of life is a unique thing which is possessed by each person in different ways. This research presents the illustration of the meaning of life in a middle adulthood woman who choose not to get married. This background of research begins from east values which consider a marriage as a mandatory of life, if not labelling and negative minded will be given to whom didn't get married, especially the woman. There are three subjects in this research with bachelor minimum degree. They are all works in service, social, and education field. We can see in this research that the three subjects have their own meaning of life in different ways.
