Corelation Between Self-Esteem and Agresion Behavior in man adolescence in SMK X (Roswiyani P. Zahra M.Psi. dan M. Nisfiannoor, M.Si., Psi); Program Studi Psikologi, S1, Universitas Tarumangara. (pages 66, R1-R5)

In recent times male adolescents tend to behave aggressively in forms of group fightings, beatings, even homicides and various criminal acts. This tendency relates to their self esteem. This research is aimed at finding correltion between male adolescent aggressive behavior and their self esteem. There were 154 participants in this research. The result indicates that they who have high self esteem tend not to behave aggressively and they who have low self esteem tend to aggress their environment.
