

Abstract

Fransisca Andriyani Yanuar (705100004)

Teenage Girl's Attachment with Single Working Mother; Agustina, M.Psi., Psikolog; Undergraduate Program in Psychology, Tarumanagara University(i-x; 80 pages; P1-P2; L1-L10)

Divorce cause single mother leads role as father and as mother. Single mother has to works and takes care their children. Teenager is process when they are looking for their identity. Teenager who has divorce's parent has traumatalical experience, they need their mother as attachment figure to exchange their ideas. Single mother who was working usually has less attachment between mother and children. Attachment is emotional bonds with another people very close and looking for them when they are afraid. This research aims to be describe attachment from teenage girl with single mother and working. The method is called in-depth interview was conducted towards four teenage girl who have single mother and working. The result shows that the four subjects have secure attachment with single mother and working.

Keywords: Attachment, Attachment Figure, Teenage Girl, and Single Mother