

ABSTRACT

Michael Lawrence (705080139)

Time Management relation and Academic Procrastination At The End of the University Student “X” Is Working on Thesis. (Yohanes Budiarto, S.Pd., M.Si.).

Undergraduate Psychology Faculty Tarumanagara. (55 pages, R1-R3, Appdx 1-25).

The purpose of this study was to determine the relationship between time management and academic procrastination in graduate students at the University “X” on the thesis. The participants include 120 students at the University “X”. This study used snowball sampling technique. Data collection tool using likert scale, consisting of Time Management Behavior Scale amounted to 34 items and Tuckman Procrastination Scale totaled 35 items. The results showed that there is negative and significant relationship between time management and procrastination in student at the University “X”.

Keywords: Time management, academic procrastination, early adulthood.