

ABSTRACT

Muhibbah Islamiah (705150134)

The Role of Psychological Capital and Marital Satisfaction on Quality of Life in Multiple Role Women; Dr. Rostiana, M.Si., Psi. & Bianca Marella, S.Psi., M.Sc.; Bachelor of Psychology Study Program, Tarumanagara University, (i- xii; 55 halaman, P1-P3, L1 – L42).

This research to know the role of psychological capital and marital satisfaction on the quality of life in multiple role women. The participants of this study were 104 multiple role women by using the method non-probability sampling with technique purposive sampling. The type of research non-experimental research with quantitative methods. Data collected with the distribution of the questionnaire and processed with use SPSS 22.00 version. This study using 24 item statement psychological capital developed by the faculty psychology tarumanagara university, 15 item statement marital satisfaction developed the tarumanagara university faculty of psychology thesis by Ria Erdyani and 43 item statement the quality of life developed by the writer with supervising lecturer a thesis. This study using the regression test to an analysis data. The results of this study indicate that psychological capital and marital satisfaction had a role in significantly in the quality of life in multiple role women, from the to independent variables psychological capital has a greater role on the quality of life in multiple role women with the hope dimension compared to the four dimensions of psychological capital.

Keywords: Psychological Capital, Marital Satisfaction, and Quality of Life.