Students perspective towards their school is one of the major point to evaluate their achievements at school. This research has a purpose to see the description of quality of school life at SMKN in Sukabumi city. Quality of school life is a positive and a negative synthetic experience that the students had been experienced around their school's area. The technique and methods that had been used are purposive sampling technique and qualitative and quantitative methods. The subject for this research are 377 students that consist of class X and class XI at SMKN X Sukabumi. The result for this research we can conclude that the quality of school life description at SMKN X school is quite high which is 2.9140. Based on this we can see that the students who had low quality were caused by their lack of contributions in class activities and also had less expectations to their teachers at school. In order that based on the interview result to two subjects it shows there are some things need to be fixed by the school such as the relations between students and the teacher's attention to their students at school.
