

KECERDASAN EMOSIONAL DAN AGRESIVITAS PADA MAHASISWA YANG MELAKUKAN TINDAKAN ANARKIS KETIKA BERDEMONSTRASI

Amrullah Azmy & Fransisca Iriani R. D.

Fakultas Psikologi
Universitas Tarumanagara Jakarta

ABSTRACT

Amrullah Azmy

Emotional Intelligence and Aggressiveness on a Student who Perfoms an Anarchist Action when Demonstration; Dr. Fransisca Iriani R. Dewi, M.Si; Undergraduate Program in Psychology, Tarumanagara University, (i-xii, 94 pages, P1-P5, L1-L70)

This research using a method of quantitative which aims to know of the relationship between emotional intelligence and aggressiveness on a student who performs an action anarchical when demonstration against. The study included 83 students who act as anarchists demonstrated in the city of Jakarta. The technique of the sample in this research is convenience of sampling.

The results showed that there is a significant relationship between emotional intelligence and aggressiveness. This means that the higher level of emotional intelligence make the level of aggressiveness getting low, vice versa. Base on the relationship between dimensions of intelligence emotional and aggressiveness showed that dimensions of empathy and social skills or proficiency in building relationships with other people having the most significant relationship with the aggressiveness.

Aggressiveness, base on the purposes showed that the subject of study likely doing hostile aggression and base on the form showed that the subject of study likely doing physic-active-direct aggression.

Keywords: Emotional Intelligence and Aggressiveness

1

Penulis pertama adalah alumnus program S1 Fakultas Psikologi Universitas Tarumanagara (Azmy_aam@rocketmail.com). Penulis kedua adalah dosen tetap di fakultas Psikologi Universitas Tarumanagara (roesmaladewi@yahoo.com)