

ABSTRAK

Irene (705080077)

Correlation between Religiousity and Conversion Motives for Adulthood who has Conversion Religion. (Yohannes Budiarto, S.Pd., M.Si.). Undergraduate Program, Faculty of Psychology, Tarumanagara University (75 pages, P1-P2, L1-L30)

The objective of this research is to identify the correlation between religiousity and conversion motives for adulthood who has conversion religion. This research encloses 41 participants in Jabodetabek, especially in Jakarta and Tanggerang by snowball sampling. According to Pearson Correlation, there is positif and significant correlation between religiosity (faith based coping and religious social support / activity) and intelektual also mystical motives. There is negative and significant correlation between religiosity (faith based coping) and experimental, revivalist, and coercive motives. Also, there is negative and significant correlation between religiosity (faith based coping) and experimental and coercive motives. There is no evidence that there is a relation between religiousity and affective motives.

Key words: religiousity and conversion motives